Dear Friends

Welcome to the July issue and the season of Kremp! This month we profile fashion designer Kunjina Tesfaye and aspiring new artist Misrak Zewide plus a new delivery service around town; beU delivery. Among Women is a powerful new thought provoking film highlighting the emotions and traumas of pregnancy and childbirth in rural Ethiopia. Enitewawek is a wonderful new café and creative space offering movement and dance classes - great food and ambiance and a great place to “get to know one another” which is very much the ethos of this place. We also write about two books - one new book on Ethiopian poetry and the classic book “In Ethiopia with a Mule” by Irish author Dervla Murphy who recently died.

Have a good month.

AFRICAN CREATIVE WOMAN: KUNJINA TESFAYE

Kunjina Tesfaye was fortunate enough to discover her passion at a young age. She and her sister would entertain the family with fashion shows on weekends, often wearing her mother's oversized clothes and styling them so they would fit. She started sketching female figures at the age of 14 and designing clothes that looked more like wearable art pieces. Kunjina is a fashion designer based in Addis Ababa Ethiopia and owns her fashion brand KUNJINA that she founded in 2017, located now at Century mall. She makes unisex and women's ready to wear garments and adds uniquely crafted details on her garments such as hand painting, fabric manipulations and embroidery to narrate stories from her inspiration.

After finishing high school, she still nurtured her desire for fashion and got a sewing machine from her aunt. She joined Wossi International Fashion Institute while she was a fourth year student in university and took a short course in fashion design. Kunjina fully focused on her passion right after she got her BA. She has participated in many local fashion events and has gained a wide range of local and international media.

Kunjina believes what she presents to the world regarding her art should always upgrade and be a better version of her last project. She wants her work to inspire and impact people's lives which pushes her to keep going.

She recently launched her new conceptual collection named UDET. UDET is a geez word meaning cycle and is inspired from Kunjina's personal experience; this collection revolves around topics like fear, productivity guilt and growth. It shows the process of self-doubt, transformation and self-actualization using the metamorphosis cycle of a butterfly as a metaphor.

We share with you some photos from her recently debuted UDETcollection.

TIMNIT GEBRU; 100 MOST INFLUENTIAL PEOPLE OF 2022

Timnit Gebru is an Ethiopian American computer scientist who works on algorithmic bias and data mining. She is an advocate for diversity in technology and co-founder of Black in AI, a community of black researchers working in artificial intelligence (AI). She is the founder of Distributed Artificial Intelligence Research Institute (DAIR), which will work with AI researchers around the world, with a focus on Africa and African immigration to the United States, to examine outcomes of utilizing the technology.

In 2021, Gebru was named one of the world's 50 great leaders by Fortune and this year she is one of Time Magazines 100 Most Influential People (Innovator): "It takes courage to speak truth to the most powerful technology companies in the world.

Timnit Gebru is a truth teller”.

In December 2020, Gebru was the center of a public controversy stemming from her abrupt and contentious departure from Google as technical co-lead of the Ethical Artificial Intelligence Team.

Higher management had requested she withdraw an as-yet-unpublished paper that detailed multiple risks and biases of large language models or remove the names of all Google co-authors, claiming that the paper ignored recent research that showed methods of mitigating the bias in those systems. She requested insight into the decision, and warned that non-compliance would result in her negotiating her resignation. Google terminated her employment immediately, claiming they were accepting her resignation.

INTRODUCING BEU DELIVERY

If you live in Addis, there's no way you will have not noticed orange backpack-bikers roaming the city. beU delivery is an on-demand food delivery service providing efficient and economical door-to-door food delivery that allows the customer to enjoy their favorite foods from the comfort of their home or office. beU provides a service (often considered a luxury), for a fair price, helping Addis Ababa residents save both time and energy.

Additionally, beU also helps restaurants gain visibility and increase their sales, particularly useful for smaller family-owned restaurants that are unable to market themselves.

beU delivery is made up of young professionals working together in a dynamic environment to make meals more accessible right across Addis Ababa. beU has created a workspace where young people can build their careers and thrive in their chosen departments. There is a minimum beU work requirement of owning a smartphone and a bicycle, for young men to be employed as riders.

beU is the #1 food delivery service in Ethiopia, 67% cheaper than the competition thereby making food delivery affordable for the mass population.

Follow beU on all their social media platforms and download their incredibly convenient service app.

MISRAK ZEWIDE; ASPIRING NEW ARTIST.

BY EDM BELETE HABTEGEBRIEL

We are surrounded and are part of a world that is made up of things that have different shapes and colors. Combining these and creating a work of art on canvas is driven by passion and has the capacity to evoke intangible yet profound emotions in others impacting their lives. No spoken words but it can reach deep inside and touch people.

Misrak Zewide is an Ethiopian painter who was born and nurtured in the city of Addis Abeba. Ever since she was a little girl, painting her fantasies and things that she saw used to make her happy and so became her favorite past time. As she grew older, the passion for painting grew even deeper. She discovered that she was relaying her thoughts all along and her perspectives through art and she wanted to keep on doing it. And thus, she recognized it as her true calling.

Misrak strongly believes that following your true calling is a success on its own, even if sometimes it's followed by a lack of immediate return. Fortunately for her, the prospect of becoming a painter of renown is very bright as she is talented and there happens to be a wide appreciation of art in the society, which is evidently and prodigiously displayed in people's home, offices, and hotels. This is quite encouraging for any artist.

The first time she showcased her art works was at the BIG ART SALE 2022 at the Hilton with over 150 other artists. That gave her the insight into professional painting and assimilated her into the artist community. She has learned a lot from that experience and found art enthusiasts that share her thoughts and aspirations. Misrak's long term plan is to become a full-time studio artist and exhibit her paintings. She is a great admirer of the work of the legendary, the Honorable World Laureate Maître Artist Afewerk Tekle and aspires to continue sharing her feelings and thoughts through abstract painting such as he did.

CAFÉ AND CREATIVE SPACE: ENITEWAWEK.

BY ARABELLA STEWART

The name of this great café and creative space is “Enitewawek” literally translated means “Let’s get to know each other” and is the ethos and harmony of this charming eco-friendly place. Recently re-established and relocated to Bole in a brand new building but off the main hustle and bustle of Bole Road, this is a place to purposely seek out. The ambience is great and the food is fresh and tasty – the café uses locally sourced produce and has a simple but enticing and wholesome menu. The made from scratch falafel wrap I enjoyed along with some roast potatoes in home-made wraps was delicious as was the strawberry cupcake. I was also tempted by the All-day Breakfast menu with a variety of tempting dishes on offer both Ethiopian and Ferengie. Let’s not forget the Barista coffee and fresh juices (with No added sugar!) and it is important to note that there are no straws or plastic used here – thumbs up to them for supporting the environment this way!

The SUP (Souls United in Power) spacious creative space adjoining the cosy café serves the community with movement and creative classes including yoga and dance for kids and adults – contact them for Krempt programs they are developing for kids. A native of New Zealand, Kim fell in love with Ethiopia back in 2007 (on a trip with Habitat for Humanity NZ building mud huts in Jimma) and then with Yonas in 2012 with the birth of their son in 2013 and marriage in 2014. After almost 8 years back in New Zealand, where Yonas worked as a Barista, their dream was always to return to Ethiopia to “use our gifts to serve the community” says Kim. The idea of a café and creative space is the perfect combination for the couple to utilise their skills and talents. Kim has a background in dance and fitness and helped her family run their long established Cambodian restaurant in New Zealand. Yonas has a background in hotel management in Addis and as a successful and popular Barista in New Zealand.

In addition to their own skills, they are extremely interested in supporting and empowering local artists and other local enterprises as much as possible – they hire and trained unemployed women, source bakery goods from an independent local baker and work with artists and artisans to help promote their skills or products. This is definitely a place to feel good about visiting not just for the delicious food and drinks!

AMONG WOMEN; POWERFUL FILM ABOUT PREGNANCY AND BIRTH IN RURAL ETHIOPIA. ■

"If my parents had been educated they would have educated me too" the reflective sentiment of the main character Huluager Endeshaw (25) who left school after 6th grade and was unable to continue her education despite her wish to do so. She reflects on her life today and that of those of her friends who did finish school. Instead she was unhappily married off as a teen into a loveless marriage and had given birth to 4 children by the time she was 25.

The film is set in the village of Megendi near Gondar where maternity care is changing; traditional midwives still deliver babies at homes but there is pressure for women to use the local clinic. In the field of these tensions between traditional and modern midwifery, the conflicts of women in Ethiopia's changing society come to light.

Caught in the midst of the shift, the film explores how a community of women decide how best to provide for expectant mothers. The film revolves around pregnant Huluager who weighs what is expected of her against what she needs, bringing past pain to the surface. Working through her discomfort, she finds solace in her fellow women. As the story unfolds, Hulu weighs her life today and what she has lost and what she wants in the future and makes the decision to change the direction of her life rather than just accept a life unfulfilled, aside from the love she clearly has for her children. The film depicts the challenges facing rural women on many levels.

Among Us Women, written and directed by Sarah Noa Bozenhardt, co-directed by Daniel Abate Tilahun. Efuye Gela Films (Addis Ababa) is further engaged with this powerful film in an impact campaign addressing health, education, policy professionals and their target groups. The impact campaign aims to foster conversations between communities, midwives, health professionals, medical institutes, and health education centers to bring lasting solutions to the gaps of understanding between communities and the health professionals that serve them.

ENTOTO NATIONAL PARK A GREAT LOCAL DAY OUT.

There are five entrances to Entoto Park. Which entrance is the most convenient and why?

1. VIP Entrance (Sululta Rd): This gate is only available to VIP visitors to Entoto Park such as higher-ranking government officials, diplomats, and other VIPs, as indicated by the Entoto Park administration.

2. Sululta Entrance: This is the next entrance also located on Sululta Road. Visitors should use the Piazza – Addisu Gebia – Dilber route to reach the Entoto Customs area. Then turn right and proceed about 2 kilometers to the parking lot on the left and the Sululta Entrance across the road on the right side. You will need to walk a short distance along a paved path after you enter the park and after you show your ID to the guards – about 1 kilometer. Sululta gate provides easy access to various cafes as well as two Kuriftu restaurants and their stables with horse riding.

3. Addisu Gebiya Entrance: This is the shortest distance entrance in Entoto Park compared to the other gates. This gate is close to Kategna and Mama's Kitchen restaurants. Entoto Park's Kuriftu Entertainment activities are also conveniently located near the Addisu Gebiya entrance.

4. May Ber Entrance: Green Gold Coffee and Fresh Corner are just a short walk from the May Ber Entrance. This gate also has the May Telescope View. This is the nearest entrance if you are coming from Siddist Kilo/Shira Meda area. Parking outside costs 30 etb.

Although you can reach the other entertainment places and eateries on foot be advised that you will need to walk a significant distance.

5. Shiro Meda Entrance: Entoto Park's Shiro Meda Entrance is the park's final entrance. You will have two options after passing through this gate: May Entrance or Addisu Gebiya Entrance. A long walk route leads to this entryway.

NEW BOOK OF ETHIOPIAN POETRY.

Misrak Terefe is a well-known poet and performer based in Addis Ababa. She is a founding member of the Tobiya Poetic Jazz group, which holds hugely popular monthly literary/musical events. She was the first female poet to put out her own VCD and is featured in other joint publications as well as on the Tobiya DVD (vol 1). She has published one book of poems, called Chew Berenda (Salt Market). While on tour in the United Kingdom recently to promote an anthology of Ethiopian poetry in English, Misrak paid a visit to Ambassador Teferi Melese in his office and he assured her of the Embassy's readiness to collaborate with her team to promote Ethiopian poetry.

An anthology of Ethiopian Poetry in English entitled, "Songs We Learn From Trees the UK Tour", featured Ethiopian poets including Bedlu Wakjira, Misrak Tefera, Kebedech Tekleab, Hama Tuma, Mihret Kebede, and Alemu Tebeje in London recently.

DERVLA MURPHY

IN ETHIOPIA WITH A MULE

IN ETHIOPIA WITH A MULE; WRITTEN BY DERVLA MURPHY.

Dervla Murphy Irish author of adventure travel books who wrote for more than 50 years has died aged 90. Murphy wrote many fascinating accounts about her travels overland on cycling trips through Ireland to India, through Europe, Iran, Afghanistan, Pakistan and India.

In 1968 spurred on by romantic childhood memories of names such as Prester John, the Queen of Sheba and the Lion of Judah and a vision of Ethiopia as "beautiful, dangerous and mysterious", she went against official advice to make a considered hazardous journey through Ethiopia in the company of an amiable pack-mule, Jock. During the gruelling trek through remote regions she was robbed three times, yet found the Ethiopian highlanders to be mostly hospitable and her dependence on them, and increasing familiarity with their way of life, broke down barriers between them.

On reaching Addis Ababa she concluded that this growth of affection for another race "is the real achievement of such a journey", and the book provides an insight into the uniqueness of Ethiopia and Ethiopians at a time before tourism to Ethiopia had been properly developed. It is as good a read today as it was when it was first written in 1969.

COFFEE: THE PRODUCT THAT TIES ETHIOPIA AND ITALY ■

Coffee is one of the most important products of Ethiopia, playing a key role in the country's socio-economic development. It represents a major source of cash income and provider of employment supporting millions of farmers, and it is also the first item in revenue generated from export. For many years the Italian Cooperation Agency has been an active contributor to the Ethiopian Coffee sector. Increasing production is essential, but the real asset of the Ethiopian coffee resides in its quality, the beans of the Arabica.

Thanks to a successful Private and Public Partnership (PPP) among the Ethiopian Ministry of Agriculture (MoA), the Italian Agency for Development Cooperation (AICS), the Ethiopian Coffee and Tea Authority (ECTA), illycaffè, Ernesto Illy Foundation, and UNIDO, the project, funded by the Government of Italy has contributed to the value-addition within the coffee chain in Ethiopia by improving living conditions and capital returns of smallholders and their families through the promotion of sustainable production, transformation and exportation of Ethiopian coffee.

The initiative also established the first Coffee Training Center (CTC- <https://ctc.et/>) in Ethiopia, equipped with state-of-the-art technology, including brewing, roasting, sensory laboratories, and a café. The CTC provides a wide range of services, supplying professionals with international standard knowledge and skillsets. These include training courses on coffee economics, production and post-harvest practices, processing, cupping and grading, roasting, grinding, brewing, packaging, and marketing. In addition to that, it also provides a physical platform for national and international public and private stakeholders to meet, promote services, train operators, and further foster public-private partnership initiatives.

Being heavy coffee drinkers, Ethiopians and Italians are ranked among the largest coffee consumers in the world. This tasty and energetic drink is mainly consumed during social events such as family gatherings and spiritual celebrations. Are you ready for your next coffee?

GABI FOR THE RAINY SEASON.

Ethiopia is one of the countries around the world known to have its own traditional Cultural Clothes and the production of fabrics. These Ethiopian cultural clothes and fabrics are produced by the technique of hand weaving.

Traveling across Ethiopia, from north to south and east to west, it is common to see people putting on a white robe weaved from cotton - named Gabi. The design on the edge of this cotton robes and the name varies from place to place. Some call it Buluko, while some name it fota and many more terms used to describe it in different localities. The visual designs on the material called "tibe" have always integrated the culturally practiced aesthetics and this added value to their local identity and commercial price.

Traditionally, men wear the Gabi as everyday wear on top of their formal clothes, at funerals, and during church services, while women wear them as winter clothing at home. Apart from this, Gabi is considered as a delicate gift given to newlyweds, graduates and women that just gave birth.

Interestingly, it is now becoming common to see youngsters in urban areas like Addis flaunting on a Gabi, at work, cafes and hotels. As much as Gabi keeps you warm on this cold, rainy season it is also important to do this for the culture: as it is essential to preserve our cultural heritage to maintain our identity as a nation.
