A BUSINESS WITH A HEART AND PASSION FOR PLANTS.

<https://youtu.be/nuJF>

Green Heart Plantscaping is a dynamic start up business aiming to produce the highest quality of indoor plants, along with attractive planters that are decorated or made from natural materials.

Throughout her life General Manager Eyerusalem Samuel has always been passionate about plants: caring and researching them, lovingly creating a jungle in her own home and greening the community around her. Self-taught, plus her experience and life long interest in plants was what brought Eyerusalem to thinking about sharing this passion through a thoughtful business which focused on houseplants and the environment. As a plant customer, she had found a gap in the Ethiopian market when looking for quality plants and attractive planters; the COVID lockdown conveniently provided her with the time to further research and develop her idea until she felt it was the right moment to shape her project.

In Ethiopia most of the available planters are made from artificial materials and so to display a natural plant in a natural planter proved to be an innovative idea plus was environmentally friendly. The positive reaction from customers was immediate and the team of Green Heart continues working hard to perfect their unique design planters, both aesthetically and practically.

Bearing in mind the health benefits of houseplants, Green Heart is also committed to sharing the art about caring and preserving plants: they provide pre and post-sales care assessment to customers, such as suggesting the right plant for the right spot. Green Heart is also able to provide a carefully designed landscaping service of gardens and green areas.

The project importantly also supports several local social enterprises: Green Heart is a premium customer for clay producers like the Kechene Women's Cooperative and Ensera Pottery Center and they have started to create planters from upcycled glass jars produced by Alternative Addis.

To be sustainable was always a core target for their business and they are proud to contribute to the reuse of plastic disposals: around 50% of planters are produced from recycled plastic containers for example. The Green Heart workshop also produces 3 different collections of planters decorated by natural agave rope handmade locally in the countryside. To give planters a characteristic Ethiopian flavour, they are also decorating them with traditional artisanal Ethiopian fabric "telet". Last but not least, all Green Heart products are proudly made in Ethiopia by Ethiopian artisans with love. The company is proud to already in just two years to have become a leader in the upmarket of indoor plants and with the goal of working towards and becoming the leading company!

GREEN LEGACY PROGRAM CONTINUES.

The Ethiopian Wildlife Protection Authority employees have planted trees in the Entoto Nature Park during the 4th round of the Green Legacy Program.

FDRE Tourism Minister Ambassador Nasise Chali delivered a message on the tree planting program stating that the current green footprint program is to create many national parks managed by the authority and to help the growth of tourism in the country. The biggest task is not only planting trees but also providing proper monitoring and care and that everyone should all work responsibly to take care of the trees.

Mr. Solomon Mekonen, Deputy Director General of Ethiopian Wildlife Protection Authority, said that his office planted and cared for more than 3 thousand trees last year. The deputy chief said that Ethiopian Wildlife Protection Authority is working with detailed attention addressed to forest cover expansion. The director said that in the past four years, he has been involved with planting more than 428 thousand seedlings in 191.36 hectares

Mr. Mekoya Mamo, the director of the Ethiopian Heritage Trustees Association confirmed that the Ethiopian Heritage Trustee Association is doing much work in the field of expanding seedlings and saving Ethiopia's forest resources. The director has said they have planted more than 3 million seedlings found in Ethiopia alone and distributed 2 million 4 hundred thousand seedlings to different organizations and regions. He stated that planting a tree is not only an act that needs to be taken care of but also to take care of the 3 thousand trees planted here today. Employees from the Ministry of Tourism and other organizations, invited artists and members of Ethiopian Culture and Tourism Journalists Association have participated in the program.

REVISITING NARRATIVES OF YEKATIT 12, 1937: IN SEARCH OF SURVIVORS AT THE AMERICAN GIBBI.

This summer, Heritage Watch Association Ethiopia (HW) partnered with the Institute of Ethiopian Studies (Addis Ababa University) to locate and interview individuals who survived the Yekatit 12 massacre and sought shelter at the American Gebbi (Merkato).

The story of how the American Gebbi in Addis Ababa served as a site of refuge for hundreds of refugees in 1937 is a little-known historical moment and not a focus of scholarly attention. In recent years, there has been a desire to shift beyond the grand narrative of Yekatit 12 and to include the stories of ordinary Ethiopians who experienced it.

The project team has been publicizing a call for individuals to share their testimonies – their own or recollections of their family members or community contacts – that focuses on the role of American Gebbi under the U.S. Ambassador Cornelius Van Engert. The research, led by historians at IES, will facilitate individual or group oral history interviews, following professional ethical standards. The objective is to help preserve the public memory of survivors at the American Gebbi in the Mercato neighborhood and its importance to Addis Ababa heritage. Community-based research is an emerging research approach in Ethiopian knowledge-making and an exciting one for Heritage Watch Association as it strives to do its work in collecting narratives around Addis Ababa and the making of Addis Ababa. By elevating public memory and individual testimony, through carefully conducted oral history interviews, these forms of heritage will be recorded and available as wisdom and insight for present and future generations. This research strategy has been to focus on a few individuals and organizations that may have relevant information.

If you or someone you know was a witness to this historical event, there are two opportunities to participate: Contact Heritage Watch Association about setting up a time to share your knowledge and arrange an interview. This project is generously supported by the U.S. Embassy in Ethiopia.

Heritage Watch Association is a civil society, non-profit and non-political organization. HW acts as a resource center that supports the production of educational tools to advance Ethiopian urban heritage. Their programmatic focus is dedicated to featuring local Addis Ababa history, via projects such as producing virtual tours, and supporting spaces for intergenerational conversations and engagement with heritage through recently launched heritage clubs and toolkit.

YOGA & CONNECTING TO OUR INNER CHILD.

With the arrival of the 2015 Ethiopian New Year, we have another chance to fulfill our newly made resolutions. We can reflect & introspect on the affirmations broken and kept. It is important to realize that life's progress is not necessarily a straight line. How do we envision improving our lives? What exactly do we want to embody, hear and see? What do we truly wish for ourselves and our families? Can we be more healthy? What does it mean to be happy?

As children we look at the world as a huge infinite place filled with imagination, endless possibilities and dreams. We play, run, move and stretch naturally. All that changes as hormones take over and we explore our individuality, as we become rebellious teens, we stop believing in magic and fantasies. We find many stories proven to be lies and make-belief. This might cause confusion, disappointment, anger & grief. We can channel what we feel through dance, martial arts, or translate our sentiments through poetry. Practicing yoga may also promote a sense of peace.

As young adults, when we are able to make our own choices, finally. We may intend to do many things differently. We update, upscale and upgrade to modernity. We can keep up with technological advancements and we can do with less sleep. Some may choose to drown themselves in parties, while others preserve and focus their energy. We will learn for ourselves that practice makes perfect consistently.

As responsible parents or elders, more mature and wise, still in the prime of our lives, our perspective shifts to survive & thrive. We climb the societal ladder and aim to provide for our loved ones, either financially or in kind. We realize that the best things come for free, like attention and quality time. Fulfilling our full potential makes us rise.

We all face extreme challenges at some point in life, which are supposed to make us grow. What doesn't kill you, makes you stronger. Hulum le bego new! However, it is important to remember who we truly are, our unique mission and purpose, our big dreams and small wishes. When we reconnect to our inner child, we may rediscover what we were conditioned to hide. I recommend you spend 5 minutes in child's pose to surrender your worries and release the tensions your shoulders hold. We deeply relax in this forward fold. Solitude may help you download divine inspiration and wise words.

When we practice to stay present with our adult understanding, while looking into fears of our childhood programming, a healing process could take place. . . lifting the burden of guilt and shame. When we meditate, we learn to differentiate the sources of all the thoughts, the media influence, external opinions, whispers of our ancestors & our own actual inner voice. In silence you may connect the dots. You may relate to the need for more balance between, the higher & lower self, business, pleasure, relaxation & sports. Yoga breaks blockages and helps set our minds free.

UNIQUE ETHIOPIAN SEPTEMBER CELEBRATIONS

Enkutatash, Ethiopian New Year, falls on September 11 when the rain decreases and the sun begins to shine once again. Enkutatash means "gift of jewels." When the Queen of Sheba returned from her journey to visit King Solomon in Jerusalem, her chiefs welcomed her back by replenishing her treasury with enku, or jewels. Following New Year, seasonal birds such as the Yemeskel Wof visit; yellow flowers known as Adey Abeba come out in profusion and lush green grass covers fields and mountains. Little girls start singing the familiar song Abeba Ayewosh a week before the holiday begins. Wearing Ethiopian cultural dress completed by an elaborate hairstyle, and carrying a small drum and flowers, the young girls visit each house in their village/community extending wishes for a happy and prosperous new year.

And on the eve of Enkutatash, village elders and young boys gather outside to attend a bonfire ceremony. The ceremony begins when a chibo, a bunch of long, thin sticks, is lit. While the boys and elders do this, the little girls continue to sing Abeba Ayewosh around the bonfire. In every household, Ethiopian traditional food like Doro Wot and brews like Tella and Tej, will be prepared for the feast. The following day, New Year is celebrated across the country. Enkutatash is a time of warmth, where families, friends, and neighbors pay each other visits, wishing each other a happy new year. While the Holidays listed above are traditionally for Ethiopians among family and friends, Meskal (celebration of the finding of the true cross) celebrated later on in the month also attracts many international visitors.

PROJECT MADE IN VIENCE

Venice, the capital of the Venetian Republic for more than a millennium and the capital of the Veneto region with about 270 000 inhabitants is one of the ten metropolitan cities in Italy. Universally considered one of the most fascinating cities in the world and one of the UNESCO's World Heritages.

Venice and its lagoon are a geographic and architectural destination location, the heritage of extraordinary beauty where the islands and their settlements, (sometimes small), create an urban picture of elegance and a delicate balance. The city carries the marks of the greatness from the past, found in many of the artistic treasures disseminated along its Canals. But one does not come to Venice just for the art and tourism. The Venetian territories consist of large and small companies, defined by a rich and productive surroundings, visited each year by entrepreneurs and researchers who contribute to the cosmopolitan atmosphere that one can breathe in its streets and squares.

Extraordinary and magical, its existence is miraculous, suspended between East and West, the custodian of the Byzantine, Gothic and Renaissance traditions. It continues to enchant the world with unparalleled sophistication and elegance of lifestyle and products. Venice; city of water and land, once a power of the seas, now a perfect example of the coexistence of art, culture and unique manufacturing production.

CONFINDUSTRIA VENEZIA
AREA METROPOLITANA DI VENEZIA E ROVIGO

The values from La Serenissima are still alive and find their most effective reinterpretations in the areas of interior design, furniture and decoration. These areas combine centuries of tradition of craftsmanship and an innate cosmopolitan flair to create an abiding luxurious style: classic and majestic - worthy of a Venetian patrician villa - functional and technological- according to the highest standards of the current market.

For those who fancy a taste of Made in Italy and cherish the Venetian tradition and mastery, precious fabrics, refined wood, sumptuous lines and impeccable components, these are the basis of our proposal. The Project "Made in Venice" provides an online showcase of made in Venice excellence, which today involves over 20 local companies specializing in the production materials for home, textiles, furniture, furnishing accessories, lighting, and finishes for walls and floors.

The companies have created the following platform <https://madeinvenice.eventidigitali.ice.it/> to showcase their products to potential international customers. For more information, contact the Italian Trade Agency Addis Ababa office.

THE ETHIOPIAN CALENDAR UNRAVELLED: TESFA CALENDARS NOW AVAILABLE.

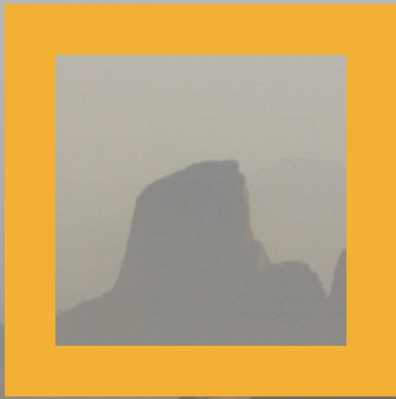

Keep up to date with both Ethiopian and Ferengie dates and Holidays with the Tesfa Calendar. Roll on the thirteenth month - as we say farewell to 2014 and welcome in 2015!

The origin of the Ethiopian Calendar is shrouded in the mists of time. However it is very much the same as the ancient solar Coptic calendar from Egypt, which is the oldest in history. It is believed that the famous Imhotep, the supreme official of King Djoser C.2670 B.C. played a part in the development of this calendar. Going further back the ancient Egyptians used a civil calendar based on a solar year that consisted of 365 days, without making any adjustment for the additional quarter of a day each year. Each year had 12 months and the heliacal rising of Sirius coincided with the highest point of river Nile flood at Memphis marking the first day of the year. The new year of the ancient Egyptians started on Meskerem 1 which is the date is an Ethiopian new year (which also signals the end of Noah's flood). This ancient Egyptian Coptic solar calendar consisted of 12 x 30-day months with five extra festival days at the end of the year. This is the same concept as the Ethiopian Calendar -13 months, 12 of 30 days each and then Pagumay at the end of the year of 5 or 6 days depending whether the year is a leap year or not.

The new year starts on 11 September in the Gregorian Calendar (G.C.) or on the 12th in (Gregorian) Leap Years. The Coptic Leap Year follows the same rules as the Gregorian so that the extra month always has 6 days in a Gregorian Leap Year.

The connection between ancient Egypt and Ethiopia is unclear as the extent of territory connected to geographical names such as Nubia and Kush is debatable. However the calendar and artefacts such as the Sistrum have crossed between ancient Empty and Ethiopia so it would seem that there was a significant cultural contact.

It's a labour of love: producing these calendars that are a synthesis of the Ethiopian Calendar with its 13 months starting on 11th September, and the western calendar with its 12 months. Woven into this are a multitude of Saints Days and cultural holidays, other special days in the Orthodox church including fasting periods, as well as the main Islamic holidays and some curiosities. I have even added the full moon dates. It has allowed me to learn a lot about the unique and intriguing Ethiopian Orthodox church .

Printed on recycled paper, hang it up in your office or kitchen. Use it to plan trips, learn when your neighbourhood church celebrates its annual day, or just covert Ethiopian dates to western ones. This is an essential key to life in Ethiopia. At the same time the photographs show case the community guesthouses and treks that Tesfa have set up with local communities around the country. Proceeds go to support these communities. Calendars are 400 etb and Agendas are 500 etb from the Tesfa Tours Office at Kebena and several places in town. Email calendars@tesfatours.com for more information

The Tesfa Calendar is available with all the Ethiopian dates set into the western calendar. In addition to the Ethiopian dates it shows saints, days fasts, and other holidays. A must have for anyone living in Ethiopia or planning to visit. It is available from Tesfa Tours - contact calendars@tesfatours.com for more information.

MEDICAL CENTER ALERT HOSPITAL OPENS DEDICATED OPERATING ROOM FOR CHILDREN.

The All Africa Leprosy and Rehabilitation Training Center (ALERT) Hospital today is the continuation and expansion of the leprosy hospital originally built by Dr. Thomas Lambie in 1922, (later renamed the Princess Zänäbä Wäraq Hospital) which expanded to include TB and HIV as well as leprosy. It has recently opened its doors to a dedicated children's Operating Room with the support from global charities Smile Train and Kids Operating Room (KidsOR). Smile Train Senior Program Manager East Africa, Sesnie Zemichael acknowledged the need to prioritize surgical care for children, praising the long-standing partnership with ALERT in providing timely surgical care for children with cleft. Director for Africa at KidsOR Rosemary Mugwe recognized the projected impact of having a dedicated theater for children: "Research estimates that by 2050, Ethiopia will have 58 million children under 18 years. Every child has a right to quality and timely surgery regardless of one's social status or economic background. This Operating Room is vital. Children should access surgical care when they need it not forgetting the ripple effect; less social and economic burden to caregivers and country at large."

ALERT Hospital Chief Executive Officer Dr. Ishmael Shemsedin hailed the partnership that brought the transformation to the theater, terming it as a healing space for children with surgical needs. "This pediatric theater refurbished by Smile Train and KidsOR has elevated the quality of surgical care we will provide to our children, offering healing in an environment that makes them feel safe and comforted by the artworks and quality equipment," said Dr. Ishmael.

The long-term collaboration of KidsOR and Smile Train will ultimately result in more than 30 pediatric operating rooms provided across Africa over the next five years, treating more than 12,000 children.
